

Snowdon fights political wildfire over protection services

If George Simmons' political career goes up in flames, which fire department will be called to put it out?

Snowdon Township's Reeve says he put his political career on the line when he recommended that Dysart's fire department should cover all of Snowdon Township. His phone has been ringing off the hook for the past week with angry residents demanding that some alternative be found.

The reeve says this is the most difficult challenge he has faced during his career in municipal politics. He's determined to work through it, but acutely aware of the consequences of failure.

"I'll either solve it or I'll be a Brian Mulroney and be ousted."

However, after a special meeting to re-address the issue last Thursday, council was still torn.

The options are clear. Snowdon can negotiate a deal with Minden to have its fire department cover a portion of the township or it can buy total coverage from Dysart and allow residents to absorb the resulting hikes in their home insurance rates.

Fire coverage for Snowdon Township has been an ongoing headache for the past four years. Up until 1989, Snowdon bought its fire protection from four neigh-

Decisions will be made by board, not planning committee

The health care planning committee will not be involved in any decisions to close the Minden Hospital, one member stated last Tuesday.

Action on recommendations coming from the current hospital study will ultimately be the responsibility of the executive director of St. Joseph's Hospital, said Michael Collins.

Although the study, which is now underway, is overseen by the committee, action on any recommendations to reduce present hospital facilities is not their responsibility, said Collins.

"If the proposal said close Minden's hospital, I assure you these are not the people who can do that," Collins told his fellow committee members. He said the only person who can do that is Frank Lussing, the executive director of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Committee chairman Jack Brezina, however, said such decisions rest with the hospital board, not Lussing.

Collins' comments were in response to a letter from Lussing to Minden area doctors. In his letter, Lussing refused to predict the future of Minden's hospital until recommendations are made by the planning and development committee.

The dialogue all stems from the fear that Minden may lose its hospital. The doctors were looking for a guarantee that it will remain open. However, the only promise Lussing would offer is that nothing will be decided until the study is complete.

Consultants chosen

The study is now underway and members of the planning and development committee had the opportunity to meet the consultants last Tuesday.

Coulson and Associates is the firm hired to carry out the work. They have an ambitious 12-week time frame to carry

Highland Road becomes Highland Road West

Name change to end confusion

by Andy Holloway

Highland Road in Minden Township will be getting a name change after Minden council accepted Stanhope's request to change it.

The road will now be known as Highland Road West while the Highland Road in Stanhope Township remains unchanged.

The request came about after Helen Henderson who lives on Highland Road near Hall's Lake asked Stanhope council if they could get Minden to change the name of its Highland Road just south of Carnarvon.

In a letter to Stanhope, Henderson said having two roads named the same in such close proximity could cause confusion, particularly for fire departments who would have to sort out which Highland Road was meant. Stanhope's fire department coverage area includes both Highland Roads.

At Stanhope's council meeting last Wednesday Reeve Fred Gardner said it did not make sense to have two roads with the same name, especially within the same fire coverage zone.

"I can't believe MTO (Ministry of Transportation) would allow to have two roads named Highland Road both entering Highway 35 and in such close proximity to each other," said Gardner.

However, the name change did not take place without a struggle. Minden's road committee told council that it did not want the road's name changed. Councillor Jean Anthon then suggested a compromise by calling one of the roads Highland Road 1 and the other Highland Road 2.

Finally, Gerry Rome suggested that Minden's road be called Highland Road West. This was met with approval by the other councillors.

out both phases of their study and present a report and recommendations.

Coulson and Associates is a health services consulting firm with 15 years of experience in the field. Dave Coulson told the committee his firm has carried out studies for health care services in a variety of municipalities, with Huntsville and Burks Falls being the most recent.

Ironically, the Burks

Falls experience has been touted locally as a worst-case example of what could happen in Minden. Similar to Minden, the Burks Falls hospital was a satellite of a much larger hospital. As a cost-cutting measure for the larger hospital, the Burks Falls hospital was shut down.

Coulson and Associates, however, was not the firm that recommended the closure of the Burks Falls Hospital. Tom Pinckard, Chairman of the board for the Huntsville Hospital, said Coulson and Associates did not become a player until after that recommendation had been approved by the board.

The firm is continuing its work in Burks Falls with a needs assessment for the Board of Almaguin Health Centre.

The study in Haliburton is necessary in order to meet the conditions set out by the Ministries of Health and Community and Social Services. The study is a prerequisite for the release of funding approved for the development of long-term care services.

The study will be completed in two phases. The first phase will include a review of the plans for the addition of 15 long-term care beds at Haliburton Hospital. A draft report for this phase of the study is to be completed by February 23.

The second phase will identify the alternatives available for the organization of acute and long-term care services. This will address the roles of the Haliburton and Minden hospitals and Highland Crest Home for the Aged. It will look at the links among these facilities with community-based programs.

A draft report from Phase II is to be released to the planning and development committee by March 23. On March 30 the committee is planning a day-long workshop to go over the report.

The members of the consulting team who will be in the area over the next 12 weeks include:

David Coulson, president and project director; Terry McBurney, senior consultant; Robert Morton, consultant, and Charles Canfield, architect.

Any member of the community who wants to make a presentation to the consultants can do so through the office of Kate Reed, Planning Coordinator (457-9188), or by contacting the consultants directly (416-979-0027)

School boards receive grants

Schools in Haliburton and Victoria Counties will receive $428,545 through a program dubbed jobsOntario Capital funding says area MPP Dennis Drainville yesterday.

"I am very pleased to see this substantial financial support from the Ministry of Education," said Drainville. "Not only are we supporting jobs in the community through this jobsOntario money, we are also investing in our children's educational facilities and therefore in their future.

These grants, plus a $201,455 share contributed by the school boards, will support projects valued at $630,000 in the riding.

A total of 12 projects will be funded by March 31 in Minden, Dorset, Cardiff, Wilberforce, Haliburton, Kirkfield, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Cameron.

Fire protection a symptom of larger problems bouring municipalities: Glamorgan, Somerville, Dysart and Minden. In 1989, Glamorgan dropped out of the equation and Dysart expanded its coverage area.

This year Somerville jacked its rates up by 38 per cent, persuading council to look elsewhere. And that's what led to the bind the township is now in.

Council approached both Minden and Dysart to see if they would be willing to expand their coverage to pick up the area formerly protected by the Somerville fire department.

The response from Dysart was simple: Their fire department would cover as much of Snowdon Township as requested.

Minden, on the other hand, wanted a meeting of the three municipalities to iron out an agreement. Minden Councillor Grant Ploard said he wanted to examine all the details, keeping in mind that protection for Minden must not be jeopardized. To accomplish this, he asked that a standby crew be situated at the firehall whenever the department was called out to the Kinmount area. The cost for this would be an additional $60 per hour.

With Somerville's coverage about to lapse, Snowdon was pressed for time. Talks began to break down and Reeve Simmons made the recommendation to accept Dysart's offer to cover the entire township.

When Snowdon Township residents discovered how this change might affect their insurance rates the dung hit the fan.

Although the deal with Dysart would come at a cost savings to the municipality, individual property owners could see hikes in their insurance rates of anywhere between $200 to $3,000 per year.

Insurance rates are based on the distance of a property from the fire department. Properties located beyond an eight mile radius of the department are considered to be unprotected and this is reflected in the premiums.

In January of 1983 Hope Satellite in Lutterworth Township was destroyed by fire and Minden's firefighters were called in to battle the flames. Without the support of neighbouring municipalities, Snowdon and Lutterworth Townships could not afford to offer their residents fire protection services.

Simmons compares the situation to that of a traveller whose car breaks down on the side of the road. "Dysart comes along and offers to give you a lift. Minden criticizes you for driving a car that's in poor repair."

Simmons took the ride, but now he and council are facing the flack. "It's getting rough," said Simmons. "Politically, I'm on the hot seat."

The possibility of accepting Dysart's offer was very tempting, he said. "For once Snowdon would have some stability."

The cost of providing fire protection in Snowdon has gone up dramatically over the past five years, translating into higher tax demands.

Since 1988, standby fees have gone up by $12,775, an increase of 213 per cent. By comparison, assessment in the township during the same period has increased by just 15 per cent.

The projected increase in standby fees for 1993 represents a 2.4 per cent increase in the municipal mill rate, or $1.68 per $100 of assess-

In these difficult economic times, area residents are quick to criticize municipalities for any tax increases. However, some costs are beyond the municipality's control. Fire protection is just one example of the municipal responsibilities that are a growing financial burden in Snowdon Township.

Reeve Simmons says he is now willing to accept Minden's terms for fire protection. However, in return, he expects residents to be understanding when their taxes go up.

Escalating costs are not restricted to fire protection, said Snowdon's clerk. "This is just the tip of the iceberg." The province is downloading its responsibilities to municipalities, making it increasingly difficult for the small ones to survive. Fire protection is "the first in a whole bunch of crises" that Snowdon will face in the months ahead.

To resolve the fire protection issue, council has proposed a public meeting to find out the wishes of the residents.

"I'll do whatever (Snowdon residents) wish," Simmons said. However, he says residents will have to realize that taxes will be going up this year. "It's not just three per cent," he said. "It will be more like 18 to 20 per cent."

Simmons also hopes to arrange a meeting to be attended by the Fire Marshal and representatives from Glamorgan, Dysart, Somerville and Minden Townships with the aim of developing a more co-operative approach to a variety of issues faced by municipalities. He says it is time to erase some of the political boundaries and start looking for better ways of serving the communities.

As of Friday, the date for the public meeting was yet to be established. In the mean time, Snowdon township will continue to receive its protection from Dysart and Minden. In addition, Ploard has instructed the Minden Fire Department to respond to any calls in the Kinmount area, where protection under the former agreement with Somerville has lapsed.

Better late than never: The Minden Sled Dog Derby is ready to run this weekend and the weather conditions look promising.

Outdoor rink should be volunteer project Minden council says

An outdoor skating rink in Minden could provide new recreational opportunities for youths, Minden council was told Thursday.

If a rink is to be created, however, it will have to be a volunteer project. Doubtful that the changing weather will sustain a rink, council has indicated it is unwilling to contribute staff or substantial financing.

The concept was initiated by Marion Fischer from the Minden Bible Church. She approached council primarily to request that more of the arena's time be made available for public skating.

Fischer was told that the arena is providing more time for public skating this year than in the past. During the Christmas break there were seven days when time was allotted for skating. At least three more will be open during the March school break.

"That's not too bad," Fischer agreed. "I just wanted to make sure last year's episode didn't happen again." She said there was very little time allotted to public skating last winter.

Yet, while she seemed pleased with the amount of time scheduled at the arena, Fischer said she would like to take it a step further by providing an outdoor rink just for skating.

The arena is heavily booked for hockey and figure skating. However, Fischer said there are plenty of people in the area who can't afford to participate in either of these sports. An outdoor rink that would be open all of the time would fill the gap, she said. "A little more time should be committed to public skating rather than for the privileged who can afford hockey and figure skating."

There have been outdoor rinks in Minden in the past. Each year volunteers created a rink on the school grounds. And although it was heavily used, it was eventually abandoned because of the effort it took to maintain the ice. Every time there was a thaw, it meant starting again from scratch to build a new surface.

Reeve Bern Berry said he, too, remembers skating on an outdoor rink when he was a child growing up in Toronto. He said the students were charged with much of the work and he remembers warm winters that weren't very successful.

Fischer said the key is in finding a location where a rink would not be difficult to maintain. She said a flat surface is necessary and suggested one of the ball diamonds might serve the purpose.

Fischer also said the tennis courts next to Staunworth Court might be an ideal location since they have a good level base. However, Councillor Jean Anthon ruled this out, explaining that it could damage the surface of the courts.

Although the municipality does not want the responsibility of maintaining an outdoor rink, Anthon said a volunteer group may be willing to take it on. She asked Fischer to get an estimate of the costs involved so she can discuss it with the Rotary Club.

Don't miss the Minden Kinsmen Winter Carnival. Organizers are planning many new events and activities to ensure another tremendous weekend. January 29 to 31.

Thankless job

Help Wanted: Five good men who are willing to work long hours in return for expenses. Applicants must have skin thick enough to endure regular floggings for their perceived mistakes.

It used to be that editorial writers could unload all their frustrations on municipal politicians and walk away feeling good about it. After all, that's all part of a politician's job, isn't it? That's why they get paid the big bucks.

The recession and all the complications that go with it have spoiled all that. There's just no fun in it anymore. Every time we start into a critical editorial, there is an underlying feeling of guilt.

Being a politician these days has become so complicated we have to wonder why anyone would volunteer for the job. Municipalities face greater demands for service from residents, the same people who demand no tax increases. The province is continually dropping new responsibilities and demands on municipalities while systematically cutting off financial support. The harder the politicians work to get things done, the more open they are to criticism.

This week it's George Simmons' turn to be flogged. Knowing full well that a double-digit increase in next year's taxes will not rest easy with Snowdon residents, he tried to swing a deal to save a few bucks on fire protection. It all flew back in his face, though, when residents learned their household insurance premiums might jump a few hundred dollars as a result.

Simmons says his political career is on the line over this issue. The way we see it, though, is this is a case of a politician striving to do right by his constituents and getting whisked away by a political whirlwind.

What has come out of all of this, is the realization that the future of small municipalities will be brief unless they can learn to work together. Providing fire protection at a reasonable cost is just one of the challenges that will require a lowering of political boundaries. Waste management and land use planning are others.

Being a municipal politician in today's stressful climate takes far more time and energy than in days gone by. The workload is overwhelming and it's only going to get worse.

We doubt Simmons' political career is in danger. In the last election, he was the only person who applied for the job, and with the mounting workload, the position will be even less attractive when the next election is called.

Big brother, ah sister, welcomes all you good boys and girls

Warning: The following column contains words that are offensive to the Ontario Women's Directorate, er, Directorate.

"Boys will be boys."

There. I said it and I'm not ashamed of myself.

The time-worn phrase is now considered passe ... politically incorrect ... offensive by the aforementioned directorate.

It is not explained why the phrase is unacceptable although they suggest we refrain from using it at all times.

I may be from some sort of old school of thinking, but it seems to me boys will be boys. And girls will be girls, barring any sudden change of heart of course. Some boys will grow up to be women and some girls will grow up to be men. It's called a sex change, but not too many boys or girls have them. You have to be of legal age to have one and by then the boys are considered men and the girls are considered women.

So, boys will be boys until they decide otherwise. It makes sense, but to the directorate, who see it as a vicious affront to all girls, um young females, er ... oh

Rantin' n' Ravin'

by Andy Holloway

forget it.

Some other unacceptable words and phrases include: alumni, boyfriend, balls, mother nature, father time, pantywaist and tomboy. Again no explanation is offered, although we can imply that somehow the gender reference in these terms crosses a line deemed verboten by the Ontario Women Directorate.

'Dead men tell no tales' is another phrase frowned upon.

Well, do they? Not usually, although Stephen King, um, Monarch, seems to think they do. He also seems to think dead women tell tales although he usually specifies who or what he is referring to.

In reality, the booklet from the Ontario Women's Outdoor rink should interest our reeve

I spent the better part of an hour last night thumbing through old magazines searching for the one I'm sure will convince Minden's reeve to reconsider his stand on the proposal for an outdoor rink in town.

I never found the magazine, but I remember a few of the salient points from the article -- enough, I think, to sell Bern Berry lock, stock and snowshovel on the idea.

Bern, you see, is a hockey fan. A big hockey fan. Even council engagements can sometimes take a back seat to his Monday night antics.

Now, Bern's not the sort of fan who sits in front of the tube swilling beer, cursing the hapless Leafs and cheering on the bloody brawls. No, sir. He gets right into the thick of it. Every Monday night he laces his skates, dons a helmet and gloves and jumps on the ice for an hour of fancy stick handling in the local men's league. He's not too bad, either. He's no Rocky Raccoon or anything, but I've heard he's scored a goal or two.

Anyway, the point here is not Bern's prowess on the ice. It's more about his potential prowess on the ice. If he had started his hockey career on the right foot, he might have made it to the pros.

The magazine I couldn't find tells all about The Great One's (Wayne Gretsky's, not Bern's) secret to success. Soft arena ice, so the story goes, allows

by Russ Duhaime

young hockey players to develop sloppy skating skills. The hard, irregular, blade-dulling natural ice is what it takes to be great.

Arenas are for rink rats and figure skaters. If you really want to play hockey, Mr. Gretsky concluded, you first have to master natural ice.

Gretsky's dad figured this out early in his son's career and went to great pains every winter to build a back-yard rink behind his Brantford home. Every day after school, Wayne would thrill an imaginary crowd with his magical footwork, skirting the ankle-high boards to avoid an errant patch of grass, deftly stealing the puck around an old maple-tree defenceman and popping it into the mesh. Invariably, the crowd went wild.

Some may say it's too late for Bern to go back to the basics and aim for a position in the NHL. His rickety old bones won't take the pounding.

I say the skeptics are wrong. This is no ordinary man we're talking about here: It's Bern Stubbom-To-The-Core Berry. If my hunch is correct, you'll find the reeve out at the fairgrounds tonight, shovel in hand and water pumpers on stand-by. Please don't interrupt him. He's soaking up the cheers from he adoring crowds as the oldest man to play his rookie season in the NHL stuns the opposition with his amazing footwork.

Differences make the game more fun

Directorate is quite amusing - to all sexes - although the book has precious little to say about those people who are of indeterminate sex.

Everyone in our office, including those of a non-male gender, who has read the book had a darn good laugh. Of course, these women have been brainwashed from birth and are therefore not in control of their minds.

For example, as soon as children start singing our national anthem, the case is lost for all but the mighty of mind.

"Since our national anthem says nothing about daughters, she (a female child) can't help wondering whether it applies to her," says the booklet about 'O Canada'.

When I was in school I didn't even have the faintest idea what the words we were singing meant and neither did the other boys and girls. The minute long song was seen as a good time to pass notes or hit someone. Little did the boys realize they were part of a massive cover-up.

As the anthem clearly reinforces, girls were not a part of Canada. We had suspected it, of course, but we didn't have any proof. If only we had listened to the words more carefully we could have taken over the world.

But we didn't, and eventually realized that while there are differences between boys and girls, they were a source of fun not terror. Anyone who says there are not differences between the sexes has not had the facts of life fully explained.

The whole booklet would be easy to dismiss, except one point really sticks out - we're paying for this out of our tax dollars.

This province has a massive unemployment problem which will only get worse when Mexico takes away the rest of our manufacturing base, and yet the government spends thousands of dollars funding groups who put out stuff like this.

You can phone for this booklet (the number will not be repeated here as our way of saving money) and a sweet voice doesn't ask where to send your one copy it asks how many copies you want. Just for fun I said 100 and there wasn't even a pause on the line. If that is a run-of-the-mill order, how many copies are out there?

Isn't there a better way to spend our money, boys and girls.

Don't laugh, Canada is a private joke

Canada is a private joke shared by all Canadians, but we don't like other people getting in on it. Of course it's a nitwit country, of course there are too few of us and we're racially prejudiced, of course we bumble around and we're always cold and we keep building enormous monuments to a Canadian culture that doesn't exist. Of course we keep electing foolish people who make us promises we don't believe they'll ever deliver. But it's our private joke - we'll laugh at it, but nobody else had better.

Sean Kelly

Ho hum. Yet another entry in the most popular time-wasting pursuit north of the 49th parallel - the ongoing, never-ending party quiz game that asks you to answer the question, "What is a Canadian?"

Wake me when it's over.

Defining Canadianism is a pastime that's been obsessing folks in these parts for years - ever since that famous booze-up in Charlottetown a century and a quarter ago, when a gaggle of politicians in stovepipe hats got together over a couple of cases of whiskey to thumb tack and scotch tape this country together. The Fathers of Confederation did a fair job of cobbling those early provinces, but they forgot to whip up a world-class national identity for us.

In the 125 years since, scholars and soothsayers, proselytizers and pundits have all had a go at nailing down exactly what it is that makes Canadians neither American nor British nor French. There have been some dandy definitions, but none of them are ever quite ... perfect.

The best definition I ever heard came from Irving Layton. The Montreal poet decreed that a Canadian is any person who goes around asking "What is a Canadian?"

I don't propose to try and answer the question here today. Life is too short. But I think it's my public duty to announce that there's a whole new data base out there for people who do want to make the attempt.

It's a book by Heather Brazier which I found in the toe of my Christmas stocking. It's called Which Do You Prefer: Chunky or Smooth? and is published by Harper Collins. The book is 268 pages detailing what Canadians eat, watch, read, buy and do ... on an average day.

The contents are enlightening - with occasional excursions into incredible.

Did you know that on an average day Canadians spend $9,589,041 on lottery tickets? That 214 of us get divorced? That 223 Canadians give up booze? That 13,699 of us "Chuck it" approximately and take the day off to go fishing?

On an average day Prime Minister Mulroney receives 274 letters (it doesn't say what percentage of them is x-rated); we drink 55,575,000 cups of coffee and at least one of us gets caught smoking in the washroom on a Canadian airplane.

We might be able to identify Canadians by checking their mouths. There's definitely a sweet tooth in there. Canadians chomp their way through 274,888 kilograms of chocolate daily.

Which may explain why 28,493 of us start a new diet or weight loss program ... on the same average day.

As to the question posed by the title: it's smooth. Canadians prefer smooth to chunky peanut butter by a three to one margin.

Well, we do have a reputation for being somewhat bland ...

Help on the way as Dysart roads go over budget

by Andy Holloway

Dysart's roads department has spent almost $150,000 more than council thought which means the municipality will have to be careful to ensure there isn't a deficit.

Unexpected costs, such as extra snowplowing for the two major storms that hit Haliburton in late 1992 and low and inaccurate estimates on road construction and maintenance on roads like Basshaunt Lake, led to the increase said Reeve Chris Hodgson. However, Dysart should still come out about even as most of the other departments are either on or below budget.

"It means we'll have to scrape everywhere else and we'll have to make sure this doesn't happen again this year," said Hodgson to a round of nodding heads.

Despite the increased costs in the roads department this year there is future relief on the horizon. The roads' union recently accepted a contract which freezes worker's salaries for 1993 and then reduces their work week by one hour in each of the next two years.

The contract means workers will not receive any increase in take-home pay for the next three years which is rough for the workers said Hodgson adding the workers should be congratulated for realizing Dysart is in a bind with its shrinking revenues.

As well, workers have agreed to come in early when there is a major snow storm and leave early if there isn't enough work for them to do.

Dysart has also been borrowing from itself rather than the bank which reduces costs. The municipality still pays interest on the loan, but it pays to itself rather than the bank.

The municipality also received a break when three hearings scheduled with the Ontario Municipal Board were resolved before the costly procedure took place.

No Free Samples:

People were smiling even though they weren't giving out free samples during the ceremonial opening of the newly-constructed Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in Minden. CIBC representatives thanked their customers, the county and the municipality for their patience and co-operation while the project was underway. Haliburton County Warden Chris Hodgson cut the ribbon at the official opening with the assistance of Minden Councillors Gerald Rome (who is also the former manager of the branch) and Jean Anthon.

Snowfest getting geared up for bash

by Andy Holloway

The following brief items were discussed at Dysart Council's monthly meeting last Monday.

Support for Minden

A resolution denouncing the provincial government's planned reduction in unconditional grants was passed by Dysart council. The province plans to give municipalities a two per cent boost in grants this year, but roll funding back to 1992 levels for 1994. Originally, the province was to give municipalities a one per cent increase in 1992, two per cent in 1993 and two per cent in 1994.

"Down the road when they start cutting back even more they'll say, 'Well Dysart didn't complain so we'll hit them first,'" said councillor Robert Heinze explaining the decision to support the motion.

"If I was convinced that reducing grants was the only way to go then I'd accept it," said councillor Lloyd Leadbeater adding the province has other options.

The resolution was started by Minden council whose reeve Bern Berry said he was shocked that the province would cut funding.

At its council meeting, Stanhope decided to let the AMO which is dealing with the government on the issue handle the situation.

False alarm

The number of false alarms contributed to an increase in calls to Dysart Firefighters last year. Many of the alarms were a result of poor fire alarm systems which immediately notified the fire department of an alarm going off. The three main culprits, Echo Hills, PineStone and Extencicare, all had immediate answering service systems. All three have had repairs to their systems and the number of false alarms dropped towards the end of the year.

Snowfest

Snowfest organizers were given up to $1,000 by council to offset costs that are not yet covered for the winter festival. The money will be spent where it is most needed although Reeve Chris Hodgson asked that it be used where it will benefit the largest number of people and not for the wine and cheese reception that organizers are giving government dignitaries, businesses and organizers on February 4 at the PineStone. That reception is not the official public start to the festival said councillor, and organizer, Brian Watts. The real beginning happens the following day with the Torchlight Parade.

The parade will end at Head Lake where there will be a big bonfire with a fireworks display and coffee, hot chocolate and hot dogs for everyone will be served. The food has been donated by Schneiders, Shopsy's and Weston's.

The festival will benefit the entire county said Watts adding he has received little response from the Minden BIA. "They have not responded to our letters at all," said Watts.

Snowfest continues to Sunday, February 7.

Building starts down

Building statistics for Dysart municipality are way down from last year clerk Donna McCallum told councillors. Only $3 million worth of building occurred in 1992 as compared to last year when permits were issued for $6 million worth of work. The drop was expected as the weak Ontario economy continues to take its toll.

Crime of the week

Ross Point hit several times

Multiple thefts occurring at the Ross Point Road public landing to Loon Lake over the past eight months may or may not be related.

- During mid-May, 1992 a 9.9 hp Mercury outboard motor was stolen. Thieves used bolt cutters to free the motor from the boat. A pick-up truck with three males in it was seen in the area at the time of the theft.

- In late July a 1992 Jeep was broken into and an attempt was made to steal it. The thieves were unsuccessful in getting it started and instead stole $22 in loonies and a Minolta 35 mm auto camera.

- During the fall a 14 foot yellow fibre glass canoe with black bumpers and an Indian Head decal was stolen. The canoe was chained to a tree. Bolt cutters were used again.

- The latest incident occurred in mid-November when a vehicle was broken into and an OKI cellular telephone was stolen.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, call Lindsay Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-TIPS (8477). You will never be asked to reveal your identity or to testify in court. If your information leads to an arrest Lindsay Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 in cash.

Stanhope building starts down in 1992

by Andy Holloway

The following brief items were discussed at Stanhope council last Wednesday.

Building down

The total value of building starts last year in Stanhope dropped over $1 million from the previous year.

Just 82 permits for building starts worth $2,429,600 were issued by the township last year. That compares with 114 permits worth a total of $3,523,000 in 1991.

The main decrease, said by-law officer James Moore, was the number of additions being built which dropped from 61 to 31. Also decreasing were the number of houses (from 9 to 8), number of garages (19 to 15) and the number of renovations (6 to 0). Only the number of cottages being started increased. In 1992 11 cottages were started as compared to six the previous years.

Parking woes solved

Cars parked improperly at the Big Hawk Landing have been cleared to allow snow plows to turn around at that point.

Last month several cars parked near the landing impeded the progress of snow plows. The cars could have been towed away at the owner's expense if they had not been removed.

As well, 'No Parking' signs will be posted on the road to Buttermilk Falls to give fire fighters clear access to refill their pumper trucks. Apparently the road is owned by the township and not by the Ministry of Transportation as originally thought. This allows the township to post the signs.

Calling 911

The emergency response phone number 911 may soon be in place in Haliburton County. Currently the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission is holding a hearing deciding whether or not Bell Canada can go forward with a plan to implement the system in areas without the service. Council adopted a resolution from the County of Essex stating that the CRTC be urged to allow Bell to continue with the plan. The municipality of Dysart also adopted the plan at their meeting last week.

The service will cost subscribers about one cent per day. Areas such as Toronto have had the service for years.

"I think we'll see 911 go province-wide in a short time," said councillor Murray Daniels.

Special meeting

Council will hold a special meeting on January 26 to discuss waste management strategies for the township. Some of the items on the agenda will include dump hours, tipping fees, recycling and whether all dumps should have attendants. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. and will be held at the municipal office.

Snow-a-rama

The Haliburton Rotary Club Snow-a-rama, featuring a full day of snowmobiling to benefit Easter Seals, takes place January 30 at the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Centre.

Three Redmen named all-stars

Finally, some good news.

The Haliburton Highlands Redmen are in the midst of a tough slump, but three of their players were named to the Kawartha All-Star hockey team.

Forwards Darren Johnston and Jonathan Bishop along with defenceman Andy Billings will represent the Redmen at this year's all-star game to be played in Bobcaygeon this Saturday.

Billings has been a stand-out on defence for the Redmen this year with some steady, solid play. He was also a key performer on this year's Redmen senior football squad.

Johnston and Bishop have also played well this season with Bishop playing some determined hockey during the Redmen's past few games. Both players also scored goals during the recent Snofest tourney in Peterborough.

Redmen come up short in tourney

by Andy Holloway

The Haliburton Highlands Redmen held their own against some of the toughest high school hockey teams in Ontario, but were knocked out of the Peterborough Snofest Tournament in three games.

After splitting their first two games on January 8, the Redmen played their third game of a grueling day, a tough battle with the Henry Carr Crusaders.

Behind just 4-3 entering the third period, the Redmen took a penalty and as usually happens the Crusaders capitalized taking a two goal lead and then cruised to a 7-3 victory.

Still, the score isn't too bad considering the Crusaders were, as of last Tuesday, the fourth ranked team in Metropolitan Toronto and one of the traditional power houses of high school hockey.

Skaters impress at Meet-to-skate

Minden area skaters had some impressive performances, including three first place finishes, as they hosted the Minden Meet to Skate competition last weekend at the arena.

The two-day annual event hosted by the Minden Skating Club keeps getting bigger and better said organizer Linda Pawluch. Over 200 skaters from areas as far away as Kingston and Pembroke came to the event and met some strong competition from the Minden skaters.

Minden skaters recorded three firsts and several seconds and thirds during the weekend. Tristan Pawluch finished first in the Junior Bronze A Freeski and also had two second place finishes when he teamed up with Katrina Matysek in the Juvenile Pairs and Julie Vanderlip in the Senior Bronze Mixed Dance Final.

Daniel Vanderlip and Kerri Matysek finished first in the Pre-Preliminary Dance Final and Kerri Matysek took first in the Pre-Preliminary

Hartwick keeps on chugging

Goalie Paul Humber keeps team in first place by four points

by Andy Holloway

Backed by the strong goaltending of Paul Humber and three-point performances from Glen Hall and Greg Newell Hartwick kept its stranglehold on first place defeating Westside 4-0.

All four goals for Hartwick came in the second period as they finally wore down Westside who had outplayed the league leaders during the first period.

Westside had a number of excellent scoring opportunities, but all of them were foiled by Humber who earned his third shut-out of the season. Westside's Craig Crowe had two great opportunities to break the goose egg with a break-away and a perfectly played 2 on 1, but came up empty.

Midway through the second period the scoreless game was broken when Hall took a pass from Newell and slapped it past a diving Brett Foster who was called up to replace Ron Telford.

A few minutes later Newell made it 2-0 for Hartwick after taking a pass from Irwin Asbell.

Hall scored his second goal of the game to make it 3-0 with assists going to Newell and Ben Manuge. To finish off the scoring Jason Stamp drilled one home after taking a pass from Hall to send Westside to their third straight defeat.

Hartwick's win was their third in a row and kept them four points ahead of KDD who broke out of a second place log jam by blanking The Times 2-0.

Both teams had been tied for second spot with 11 points, but first period goals from Ivan Ingram and Carey Gilligan proved to be enough to topple The Times.

Kevin Smith earned the shut-out for KDD, the team's first and the only shut-out so far this season by anyone other than Hartwick.

Not only was Smith active making stops between the pipes, but also stirred things up by taking three penalties in the first period, including a coincidental double minor with Eldon Bull for slashing and roughing.

Receiving an assist on Ingram's goal was Kevin Faurey while Jamie Walker picked up an assist on Gilligan's goal.

The final game of the night was an upset with Sid Stamp winning just their third game of the year by downing Home Hardware 4-2.

Three second period goals for Sid Stamp were enough to overcome Home Hardware who have won just one of their last six games, that was a 6-4 victory over Sid Stamp three weeks ago.

The score was tied after the first with Sid Stamp's Scott Hamilton and Home Hardware's Jeff Howe trading goals. Doug Rae and John Fedeski picked up assists on Howe's goal.

Sid Stamp scored two straight goals to start the second period to take a lead they would not give up. Brent Flood and Dave Dollo scored for the Stamps.

Ron May got one back for Home Hardware, but Dollo scored his second goal of the game to reopen a two-goal margin for Sid Stamp.

Dave Hartwick received assists on both of Dollo's goals.

The win moved Sid Stamp to within three points of Westside who sit in fifth place.

With just four games left in the season Sid Stamp must put together a few more wins to escape the cellar.

Home Hardware remains in fourth, just four points ahead of Sid Stamp.

Bantams cruise to two big wins

The bantam Minden Monarchs had a successful week winning two of their three games between December 27 and January 4.

Their first game was an exciting 6-2 victory for the Monarchs at Ops.

At 6:01 of the first period Dennis Woods, with an assist from Jeff Wray, of the Monarchs got the ball rolling, firing one past the Ops goalie. Ops soon tied it up, but Wray scored on a great play after being set up by Curtis Fielding and Benji Crego.

The Monarchs scored again with Daniel Howell converting with assists from Dennis Woods and Marty Dettman. Ops got one back to enter the third period down by just one goal.

However, three third period goals by the Monarchs put Ops away. Wray, Dave Raback and Fielding all scored. Assists were recorded by Rob Reid, Tom Bagshaw with two, Fielding and Woods.

On January 3 in Bobcaygeon, the Monarchs played an exhibition game against the Cougars and came out on top 10-0.

The Monarchs were far superior to Bobcaygeon and the outcome was never in doubt.

Scoring goals for the Monarchs were Aaron Belton with two, Chris Eskelin with a hat trick, Jeff Wray, Tom Bagshaw, Andrew Crego, Marty Dettman and Dennis Woods.

Assists were given to Rob Reid, Dave Raback, Eskelin, Wray with two, Benji Crego, Bagshaw and Casey Woodcock.

The following day was a lot tougher for the Monarchs as they lost a fast, hard hitting away game 5-3 to the Haliburton Huskies.

Haliburton got off to a quick start scoring twice in the first period. Tom Bagshaw assisted by Dave Raback and Rob Reid put the Monarchs to within one during the second period, but the Huskies replied with three of their own.

In the third period, Jeff Wray slammed one home assisted by Dennis Woods. Jeff Wray scored the game's final goal assisted by Raback and Chris Eskelin.

Tough match-ups put Redmen out of Snofest

"We actually played a pretty good game," said assistant coach Paul Longo. "It was a lot closer than the score shows."

Mark Stamp scored two goals for the Redmen while Derek Glendinning scored the other.

Earlier in the tourney in their first game the Redmen were pounded 7-1 by Markham Secondary School. Markham, the fifth ranked team in Metro, led just 3-1 midway through the game before pulling away from the Redmen. The lone goal was scored by Derek Wilson.

The team rebounded though taking Scarborough's Cedarbrae Collegiate to the cleaners with a 7-0 win. The victory was the Redmen's first since it went to Lake Placid in early December.

Earning the shut-out for the Redmen was Peter Brohman while Derek Glendinning supplied the offensive punch recording his first hat trick of the year. Also scoring for the Redmen were Gord Shaw, Darren Johnston, Mark Stamp and Jonathan Bishop.

The win gave the Redmen a shot at advancing to the next round of play, but the loss to the Crusaders put them out of the tournament.

"All in all it wasn't a bad tournament. We're fairly happy with the results and we played some very tough teams," said Longo.

The tournament featured 44 teams from all over Ontario divided into two groups.

Because of their 5-0 record early in the season the Redmen were placed in the 'A' division which meant their opposition was a lot tougher.

Also in the Redmen's division were St. Micheal's, Kenner Collegiate and St. Peter's. St. Peter's went on to win the tourney with a 4-3 squeaker over Kenner in the finals. Crestwood won the 'B' division with a 4-2 victory over St. Thomas Aquinas of Brampton.

Game of the week

Novice B: Woodville vs. Minden

The Minden Monarchs lost a close game to Woodville 3-2 last Saturday at the Minden Arena. The Monarchs fell behind 3-1 in the second period before mounting a strong comeback effort. With about four minutes left in the game the Monarchs scored to get within one goal, but they could not find the mark again.

Novice Bs lose two close ones

The Ontario Hydro Novice B Monarchs played a rough game in Woodville on January 9 and came short losing 3-1 to a more dominant team.

The lone goal scorer for Minden was Nicholas Mitchell on an unassisted effort.

Three days later at the Minden Arena the Monarchs were handed their second loss of the week when they were shut out 3-0 by Cannington.

There were plenty of end to end rushes, but only Cannington could capitalize on their chances. Both teams, however, played an excellent game.

Defencemen Lance Aggette, Justin Walker, Colin Vaters, Stephen Johnson, Chris Boxall along with forwards

Johnathan Horsley, Graham Neave, Andy Kinsman and Mark Hamilton and goalie Phillip Neville put together excellent individual efforts.

Despite the losses, the team has maintained its positive self-esteem thanks to the efforts of coach Joe and manager Rick.

Atom Bs manage hard-earned tie with Sunderland

The Atom B Minden Monarchs are still showing they can play together.

After travelling to Sunderland last week the team came away with a hard-earned 1-1 tie.

Minden's only goal came in the first period when Ryan White scored after some hard, fast skating.

Sunderland came back and tied it up at the 6:00 minute mark of the second period. From then on it was continual end-to-end action with several Monarchs trying their best to connect and goaltender Shane Walker stonewalling Sunderland at the other end.

During the third period Minden had two goals disallowed and received several penalties to boot. This, however, is part of the game and the Monarchs will have to learn to deal with it.

The Monarchs kept plugging away though, as they have all season, and coach Ritchie Lyddiatt is keeping their morale high.

Putting the sizzle back into the Highlands

by Andy Holloway

The new year has obviously bred new optimism as several more businesses and a few more people have recently moved into Haliburton County.

The most recent business opening up in the county was the reopening of the old Wagon Wheel restaurant a few miles south of Minden on Highway 35 as Sizzlers Chicken and Ribs.

Owners, operators and brothers Bruce and Carl Hiscock bought the long-closed operation late last year and opened up for business under the new banner last week.

The two men used to own a similar restaurant in Bobcaygeon, but Carl says they outgrew the location and recently closed it. The restaurant was mainly take-out although it was licensed and could seat up to 30 people.

"We actually outgrew the location we were at, size wise we wanted to be a little bigger and we heard Minden was a pretty good area. The Wagon Wheel was up for sale and we purchased," says Hiscock.

The brothers grew up in Stony Creek, just outside of Haliburton, before moving to Bobcaygeon in 1991. Carl and his wife also ran the Princess Motel in Bobcaygeon while Sizzlers was still there. They will operate the motel that was part of the Wagon Wheel.

As of December all three have moved into Haliburton county to live.

There were a variety of reasons for moving to the Minden area says Carl, but one of the strongest was that, unlike Bobcaygeon, Haliburton County has plenty of events and things to do throughout the entire year.

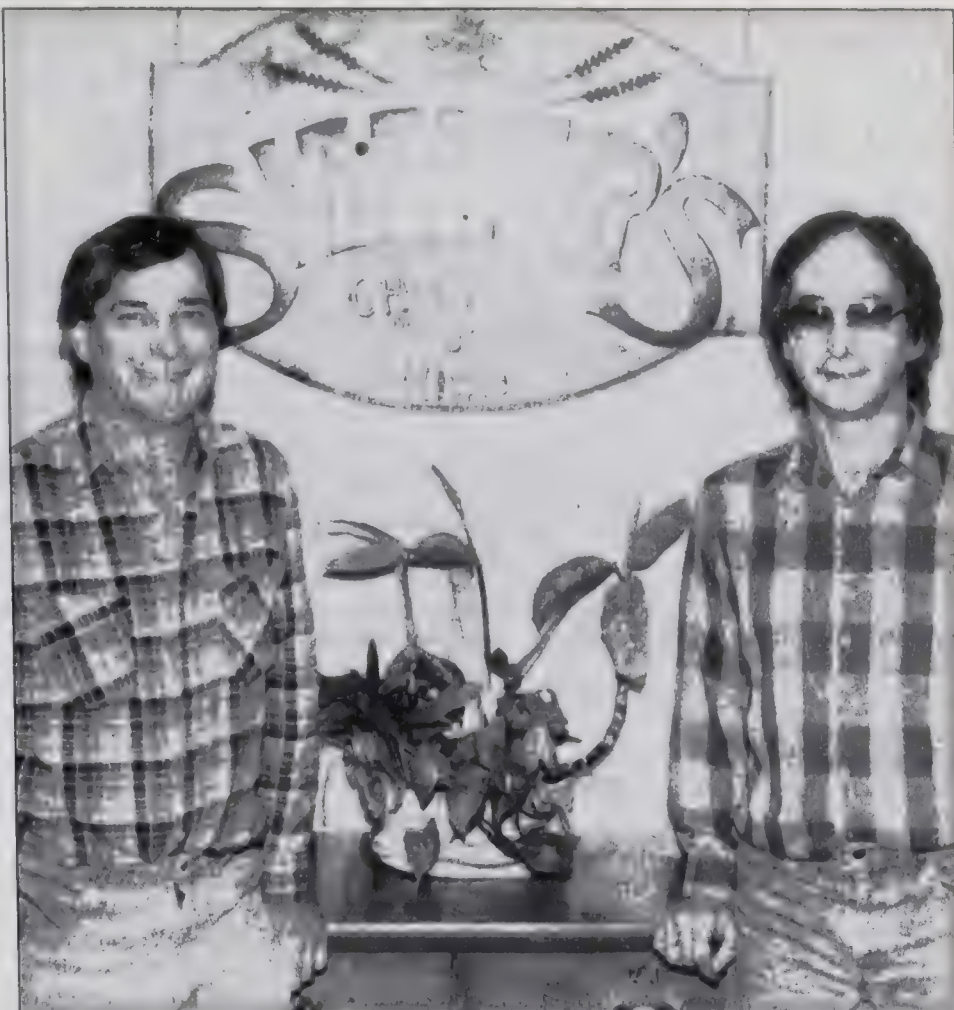

"Bobcaygeon is dying. It really doesn't have much going on during the winter like Minden does and there were quite a few restaurants operating in Bobcaygeon as well," says Hiscock.

"We wanted to buy a place anyway because we were leasing in Bobcaygeon and we wanted our own place."

The brothers have renovated the interior of the restaurant and the difference between the old Wagon Wheel and the new Sizzlers is startling.

Hiscock says when spring rolls around they will redo the wooden exterior as well. Eventually, when the restau-

VON prepares for special week

The Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses has something to celebrate. It's gearing up for the national VON week, January 24 to 30 with a focus on the future.

"Caring for Life" is the theme of this special week and the local branch is committed to providing services which lead to improved quality of life for the people in the three counties.

VON has adopted a new management style called Total Quality Management. This ensures the organization's activities are focused on the customer as VON strives for continuous improvement leading to top quality service.

During VON week, the branch is working to put its services front and centre in the minds of the public with activities such as informal open houses at its three offices: Haliburton, January 26; Lindsay, January 27; and Peterborough, January 28 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Other activities include free blood pressure clinics in Peterborough and a feature on Peterborough's Cable TV station.

Seventeen municipalities in the three counties have declared Jan. 24 to 30 as VON week. VON is a national, voluntary, non-profit health care organization with 73 branches across the country.

SECRETARY

EXPLANATORY NOTE

By-law No. 86-26 (O.M.B. File No. R8600238)

By-law 86-26 is the Comprehensive Zoning By-law of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden and effects the entire municipality. The By-law was passed in February, 1986. At the present time there are two outstanding appeals against this By-law. Gordon E. Mitchell has appealed the provisions of the By-law relating to the setback requirements for boathouses due to concerns regarding the visual impacts of boathouses. Donald J. Finn has appealed the zoning of the former Orange Hall building on Chandos Street. He wishes the property to be zoned to permit professional offices.

By-law No. 88-54 (O.M.B. File No. R8900017)

By-law 88-54 placed lands in the Village of Minden within a number of zones to reflect flooding on the lands and require buildings to be floodproofed to certain elevations. This By-law was appealed by approximately 23 persons. Most of the people appealing the By-law are of the opinion that the By-law does not accurately reflect the flooding danger on their lands.

By-law 88-54 was rescinded and replaced with a new By-law. No. 92-55. The new By-law has been approved by Council and is presently in effect.

By-law No. 89-69 (O.M.B. File No. 8900670)

By-law 89-69 was approved by the Ontario Municipal Board in October, 1990 (O.M.B. File No. R890670) subject to the approval of By-law 86-26. The By-law permits a parking area for the Red Umbrella Inn on Red Umbrella Road. There will be no further hearing into this matter. The inclusion of this By-law in this Hearing is for technical reasons only.

By-law No. 90-39 (O.M.B. File No. R9000475)

By-law No. 90-39 was adopted by Council on July 12, 1990. The By-law was intended to correct errors in By-law 86-26, the Comprehensive Zoning By-law, and to revise the zoning on certain properties to resolve objections by By-law 86-26. There were two appeals against this By-law. The Horseshoe Lake Property Owners' Association and Mr. D. R. Stevens have appealed the zoning of the Blairhampton Golf Course on the basis that the Commercial zone that the By-law would place the lands into is not appropriate for the existing use of the lands.

Copies of all the By-laws and letters of appeal can be reviewed in the municipal office in Minden during regular office hours.

Somerville's deputy-reeve steps down

by Jerry Grozelle

Still suffering the effects of an auto accident eight months ago, Somerville Deputy-Reeve Sue Douglas announced at last Monday's council meeting that she is stepping down from her post.

After 10 years on Somerville council (two terms as councillor and a year into her second term as Deputy-Reeve) the decision to retire from municipal politics wasn't easy for Douglas.

"I just figured that I wasn't able to hold up my end of the bargain for the rest of the councillors or for the staff or the ratepayers, Douglas said.

"So I just felt that it was time I stepped aside and let somebody else do the job and give the amount of time that I wasn't able to."

For the past several months Douglas has been taking therapy twice a week on her arm, which was badly injured in the accident. Since that timetable didn't seem to be improving the situation, it was decided that she would try a regimen of four therapy sessions per week. She will spend the same amount of time in therapy, spread out over four days instead of two. Douglas felt that this hectic schedule wouldn't allow her to devote as much time as she thinks is necessary to fulfil her duties as Deputy-Reeve of the township.

In her previous nine years on council, Douglas missed just one day. But after the May 6, 1992 accident she was out of commission for several months, returning to her seat on council in November.

"For the last 10 years everything in the municipality came first and everything else came behind that," Douglas said.

"I'm definitely going to miss it... the comradeship I had with the other councillors and especially with the staff.

"It was a decision I didn't take lightly. I pondered over it a long time. I'm glad I was able to give my all for as long as I was able to."

Douglas said that her family has been very supportive of her through her years on council and when she made the decision to step down it wasn't because she was under any pressure from her family. She readily admits that it hasn't been easy for them either, helping her out while she has been recuperating from the accident.

"The decision was mine," she said.

Somerville's deputy-reeve Sue Douglas is retiring from municipal politics after 10 years because she feels she can no longer accomplish her duties.

New businesses offer optimism and hope among their wares rant/motel is in full swing Hiscock says they will have to hire about six part-time staff to keep the place running.

The restaurant's specialty is barbecue chicken and ribs cooked with its own special and secret sauce, but the menu also boasts other meals.

Just prior to Christmas, Highland Ceramics opened up in Minden's downtown area.

Situated next to Jadek Sports along the more southerly section of Bobcaygeon Road the shop has been open for the last several weeks and business is improving says owner Paul Borczak.

Borczak creates and paints ceramics which can be used for decoration or more practical uses like book-ends or piggy banks.

One of the more intriguing aspects of the new business is that Borczak offers classes in making ceramics. The night classes start at the end of January and are operated in the store. An eight-week course, which takes you from learning how to handle ceramics to cleaning and painting them, costs just $40 plus another $15 for materials which you keep.

The course is proving to be a success as Borczak has more than enough people interested for the first class and he says he will probably have to add at least one more class.

He also has a similar course being offered through Sir Sandford Fleming College, which costs $70 with the extra money being used for advertising and overhead.

Borczak is new to the Minden area, but not to central Ontario. For awhile he lived in Huntsville, but most recently worked in Oshawa. Looking for a bit more "peace and quiet" he decided to move up north again and settled in this area.

Highland Ceramics is his first ceramics business, but he used to be self-employed as a mechanic and as a real estate agent. He started making ceramics in high school and has continued to create them since then giving them out as presents and selling others out of Dreams Come True. The popularity of the gifts and the lack of such a business in Minden gave him the idea to open his own store.

Also opening up in recent weeks has been a revamped restaurant in Minden's Dominion Hotel and Hyperformance, a snowmobile sales and service shop in Haliburton next to the Beer Store.

Paul Borczak is the owner/operator of the recently opened Highlands Ceramics shop in Minden.

TAKING THE HEAT OFF OHIP

This past year, the Ministry of Health took a long, hard look at our health care system to find ways of taking the heat off an already overburdened plan. It discovered that taxpayers were incorrectly paying for as much as $20 million for third-party services.

WHAT ARE THIRD-PARTY SERVICES?

Third-party services are those not required by a patient for treatment of illness or health promotion, but are requested by someone else.

These services include physical examinations for insurance forms, school and camp registrations, driver and pilot certifications and medical notes to give employees time off work.

Physicians are being reminded not to bill OHIP for third-party services. Instead, they will request direct payment for these services.

WHEN IT REALLY COUNTS

Services required to receive health or social assistance benefits remain insured. For example, medical certificates for wheelchairs or other medical devices provided through the Assistive Devices Program will be covered. There will be no charge for certificates for Northern Health Travel Grants or access to nursing homes.

Nothing that affects the basic principles of medicare has changed. You will not be asked to pay for direct medical care and some of the heat will be taken off OHIP.

For further information on how this may affect you call the Ministry of Health toll-free Infoline.

PETITIONS ENDORSED

LDL council endorsed a petition from the County of Essex urging the CRTC to approve without delay the proposal by Bell Canada to implement a subscriber

A resolution by the Township of Mariposa to the Victoria County Board of Education (VCBE) requesting that the Board keep its budget as low as possible was also endorsed by LDL council. An addition to the resolution reads as follows: "The VCBE's mill rate has doubled since 1987 (118 per cent) while the inflation rate was 26 per cent.

"It is time that this Board realized that in the real world, where the rest of us live, there is no more money. If necessary, you may have to reduce or eliminate services and or staff.

"If you don't know where to start, perhaps we could stimulate your mental process with a few ideas, such as eliminating junior kindergarten and in-town busing.

"During the other depression of the 1930s, vice-principals were unheard of and the school system survived.

"There are many other areas in education where we have a Cadillac system supported by a Chevy taxpayers. This must stop."

Better licensing system

Beginning this year, all Ontario residents who hunt and fish will be required to register for the new Outdoors Card.

This new system of licensing is in response to requests made to the Ministry of Natural Resources by many conservation, anglers and hunters groups for a more efficient system of licensing and monitoring.

There will be two types of Outdoors Card depending on the type of activity the card holder wishes to pursue. Ontario residents who wish to fish only can get a card which will be valid only for fishing licenses. Residents who fish and hunt will be required to obtain a combined hunting and fishing card. The reason for the different cards is that hunters have some safety qualifications (ie. firearms safety) that must be met and these will be noted on the new cards.

The card will cost $6 (after March 31, 1993) and is renewable every three years. It must be carried at all times the holder is engaged in the related outdoor activities. The face of the card carries the name and registration number of the card holder. It is not transferable to another person. The back of the card will hold the actual license issued to the holder. Licenses must be purchased separately and come in the form of a small sticker the card holder places on the back of the card.

The new licenses will result in fewer individual pieces in circulation and fewer pieces of paper to be carried by the holder.

There are two types of fishing licenses available, the Standard Fishing Licence which allows the holder to fish according to current ministry restrictions and a new half-price Conservation Fishing Licence. The latter licence permits the holder to catch fish at a level below that of the standard licence (ie. the occasional, recreational angler or one who returns to the habitat any fish caught). Both fishing licences, as well as the hunting licence, will be available for one or three year periods.

Drainville Diary

A report from Queen's Park

With Dennis Drainville, MPP

Although the licences have increased in price, the rise in future years will be less marked as the fee will be increased only by the cost of living. The overall fee increases reflect the reality of the high cost of operating conservation programs and maintaining the high quality of recreational hunting and fishing that we have come to expect in Ontario.

As a special offer, anyone buying a three-year Outdoors Card and licence before March 31, 1993 will receive a $6 discount on the total package. After that date, the Outdoors Card will cost an extra $6.

As in the past, children under the age of 18 and seniors over the age of 65 are not required to purchase a fishing licence and therefore do not need an Outdoors Card if their interest is in fishing only. However, if these individuals wish to hunt then they must have the card and appropriate licence.

For more information the MNR has a toll-free Outdoors Card information line, 1-800-363-3730. Over one million applications have been mailed out to Ontario residents, but if you have not received yours, forms can be picked up at any MNR office or at my constituency office.

New Year arrives early at Hyland Crest

At Hyland Crest the New Year came at 3 p.m. At 2 p.m. everyone assembled in the auditorium to do our celebrating for the coming of 1993.

Most of the residents and the members of the band wore gaily decorated hats and tiaras. The band was the Grandfathers 4 - Bill Payne, Don Alton, Eldon Deacon and Lloyd Madill. They entertained while we partook of a lunch provided by Hyland Crest, buffet style, served by the volunteers - Don and Ellen Holden, Dottie Muirhead, Pearl Cowan and Molly McCarthy. Just before count down we were all given noise-makers and when the count down came there sure was lots of noise. There were draws for New Years' hams and the lucky winners were Alice Rivers and Jack Shaw. We sincerely thank those who helped in any way.

The New Years' weekend was very quiet here, but without fail Rev. John Burgess held Sunday night chapel service with Louise Leonard at the organ. Thank you John and Louise.

Evelyn Coleman had bible study in the chapel, studying the ministry of Jesus from the book of Mark.

There were no movies Monday night. Pastor Murray took the Tuesday morning chapel service for which we thank him greatly.

Tuesday afternoon several residents helped make Valentine place cards. We need to start now to have them ready when we need them.

In the evening, Corrine Arsenaute helped us to play a couple of games of euchre.

Each Wednesday at 11 a.m. Dottie Muirhead reads The Times and the Echo news to the residents who are unable to do so for themselves.

In the afternoon a busload of residents and volunteers went by cars to the home of Dottie and Bob Muirhead for tea and a sociable time. Their home was still decorated for Christmas and was beautiful. The table was loaded with delicious goodies. Everyone had a very happy afternoon and we sincerely thank Dottie and Bob for their hospitality. Also, thanks to the volunteers: Jean Robson, Ira Carter, Mable Deacon, Pearl Cowan, Doris Robinson and Nancy Gallant.

I wish to thank The Times staff for their thoughtfulness to me and wish them well in the New Year.

Thursday was our regular tea party day and we were hosted by the Haliburton Legion Auxiliary, who were Gwen Cox, Mrs. Maxwell and Mrs. Scott. These ladies live in Minden, but belong to Legion 129, Haliburton.

Leslie Schell accompanied the ladies to entertain us by playing guitar and singing old songs like "Lamp Lighting Time in the Valley". Leslie

by Winnifred Barnum

was accompanied by Doris Robertson on the piano. We enjoyed a lovely tea and thank them greatly for everything.

Lula Ferrill and I had dinner with our adopted grandchildren in the tuck shop before bingo.

Brandon Jarvis and Valerie Patterson called bingo for us in the auditorium. Thank you Brandon and Valerie.

Friday, January 8 was Happy Hour. Frank Faulkner and Doris provided the music and Dottie Muirhead brought delicious pumpernickel bread and dip, a real treat. For added entertainment two chickens appeared among us, they must have been for they left feathers. Thank you Frank and Dottie and also the volunteers Don and Ellen Holden.

Congratulations to Lilian Harrison whose birthday was January 7 and Alice Todd whose birthday was January 9. Many happy returns.

We have a new resident for a month's stay - welcome Edith Brittain.

Moving out? Make sure you know rental rules

If you are a tenant, there are some important things you should know before you move.

You must tell your landlord in writing that you are moving. This is called a Notice of Termination.

If you are renting by the week, 28 days notice must be given.

If you rent by the month, you must give 60 days notice.

If you rent by the year, you must also give 60 days notice before the end of the year.

If you have a fixed lease or an agreement with your landlord to rent for a specific period of time, such as one year or two years, you must give at least 60 days notice before the last day of your tenancy. The last day of your tenancy is the day that your lease or agreement is over.

If you do not give proper notice, you are legally responsible for the rent until the end of your lease. If you do not give proper notice in writing your landlord can sue you in court for the rent money you owe. But, your landlord can not collect rent from you if he or she is able to rent the accommodation to someone else and therefore not lose any money.

You can ask your landlord if you can move sooner. If your landlord agrees to your request, you should both sign an Agreement to Terminate a Tenancy.

Further information and forms are available at your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

Saving the planet from political process

Our species is not living in a way that ensures a rich future for all generations

In 1989, I hosted a CBC radio series called "It's A Matter of Survival". By compressing the views of over 100 experts from around the world into five one hour programs, the catastrophic global impact of human numbers and technological prowess became crystal clear.

The response to the series was remarkable - an outpouring of over 13,000 letters from listeners, most agreeing with the message but ending with "But what can I do?" People know that something is wrong. They've heard the litany of disasters - acid rain, ozone depletion, rainforest destruction - and they recognize that major adjustments will have to be made in the way we live.

Our species is not living in a way that ensures a rich future for all generations. That is not a speculation or even controversial, it's a fact. You can verify it simply by asking people who have lived in Canada for 70 or 80 years about the ways air, water, soil and wilderness have changed during their lifetimes then project that rate of change into the future. In an effort to perpetuate the impossible - endless economic growth - we are tearing apart the very fabric that maintains life on the planet.

But I'm often asked, timorously or angrily, "What do you environmentalists want?" "Do we have to live in houses with dirt floors and outhouses?" "Do we have to go back to being hunter-gatherers and live off the land?" "What do we have to sacrifice?" People may know change is coming but it is understandable that the uncertainty of what lies ahead is frightening.

Over the years, I've tried to describe the dimensions of the global eco-crisis in order to show that major changes are needed. But watching my father in 1991 when he was told he had inoperable and untreatable liver cancer, I've learned that even in the most terrifying circumstances, hope is essential to carry on. (By the way, he beat the prognosis of death within weeks and continues to thrive.)

Right now, political parties act as if the environment is just another political issue, each claiming to be more green than the other or that the economy must subsume all else. It is reminiscent of the debates a hundred years ago over whether women should be allowed to vote or children to labour in mines. Today, all parties accept that women vote and that children should be protected from exploitation. We have to reach a similar consensus that for all future generations, the Earth's life support systems must be protected.

We need to define ecological ground rules for living sustainably and a vision of rural and urban societies that live by those rules. Once we know what to aim for, we need a strategy of concrete steps to transform our present way of living to that vision within a decade or two while minimizing human suffering and maximizing employment. We need hope that it is possible to live in balance with the Earth and that our quality of life will improve.

That is why I formed a charitable foundation (The David Suzuki Foundation, 2075 W. 12th Ave., Vancouver, B.C. V6J 2G3) which is based on money from the grassroots, not government or corporate funds. It supports the Institute for a Sustainable Future which is defining a Vision and Strategy, not through original research, but by drawing from the vast wealth of experience and literature that already exists. The ecological ground-rules, vision and strategy, can become the basis for action within local communities because The Earth Summit in Rio demonstrated that real change can only come from the grassroots up.

It is a daunting goal and easily sidetracked by questions like "What makes this organization any different?" "Who needs yet another group to dun us

Reflections

by David Suzuki

for money?" "How can you change the world when we're just a drop in the bucket?" It would be a conceit to think that one group will save the world or even Canada or a province. But as a parent with young children, I have no choice but to try because I don't want to answer "Not much." if they ever ask me "Daddy, what did you do to try to save our future?"

I am encouraged by the concept put forth in a modest book by Ken Keyes, Jr. called "The Hundredth Monkey" (Vision Books, Coos Bay, Oregon). While written about defusing nuclear weapons, it's equally applicable to the environmental crisis.

Based on a study of monkeys on an island in Japan, it describes how a new idea (washing sand off sweet potatoes) took a long time to spread but then suddenly, was practised by the entire population. It was as if, once a critical threshold is reached, an entire society can be transformed over night.

Five years ago, few would have predicted the dramatic breakdown of the Cold War, the collapse of the Berlin Wall, and the disintegration of the Soviet Union. That they occurred with little bloodshed offers inspiration and hope. Besides, if we care about our children and their children, we have no choice but to try.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

St. Paul's ACW held their first meeting of the new year at the home of Anne McAdam on January 12 and plans for their year's work were formulated. The new executive is Jean Lacey, Lorna Hicks, Katie Parker and Anne McAdam.

Some people we've heard are under the weather include Cleve Stamp, Judy Stevenson, Ruth Alton, Shirley Demuth, Jean Anderson, Tim Woods, Helen Johnson, Alice Morrison and Wes Baker with all good wishes going to all of them.

Shirley Horsley and Mary Cox enjoyed a visit with Basil and Darlene Cox and family of Bancroft recently.

Euchre game winners at St. Paul's on January 11 included Hilda Harrison for most lone hands and Jack Chilton and Katie Parker. The draw went to Marie Dennie and these games are held every week at 1:30 p.m.

Bill, Cathy and Tyler Vick from Vandorf visited with his parents Bob and Audrey Vick. Also visiting the Vick family were Mr and Mrs Hans Pruesse and Eric from Agincourt who were visiting their summer home.

Weekly bridge game winners at Stanhope on January 12 were Russ Fair and Pearl Foster. All bridge players are welcome to attend the games which begin at 1 o'clock every Tuesday.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Marylou Bird, Philip Findlay, Mary Windover and Wilma Barnum.

Winners for euchre games at Gelert Centre on Tuesday January 12, included Norm Harrison Sr. with most lone hands, Dorothy McElwain, Chris Hill and Murray McKinnon. Next games will be held January 26 starting at 7 p.m.

Meighan Woolfrey had a great time visiting her grandparents Audrey and Bob Vick recently.

Mike and Cindy Wilson of Eagle Lake visited with his mother Mary Wilson and celebrated his birthday there recently.

Winners at the Legion Seniors Group card games on January 12 were Jack Chilton, Marg McAfee, Elli Langpohl and Georgina Parkes. These games also begin each week at 1:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome to attend.

Coming up: Women's Institute meeting on Wednesday, January 20 at 2 p.m. in the Common Room; the Minden Seniors' Luncheon at Branch 636 Legion in Minden at 1 o'clock and that same evening the fun Trivia Night will be held at the Legion at 7:30 p.m.

Club 35 euchre game winners for January 11 included for most lone hands Ray Brown, Jean Randell and Murray Daniels were high lady and man and Dave Lamb won the 50-50 draw. Other winners were Verna Sawyer, Dave Bishop, Eleanor Bunker, Helen Henderson, Dave Lamb, Verna Sawyer and Gord Watt.

Heather Robinson returned to the area after spending a month in Matheson with family and friends for the holidays. Over the weekend she was visited by several old school friends: Suzanne Felton, Nicole Kitchener, Alex Hawkes, Jim Robinson and Paul Frolick.

Sunday, January 10 was a busy one at Carnarvon Lanes when 42 bowlers from seven leagues met for the High/Low bowl off. There was a great deal of friendly competition and fellowship and effort and many a good laugh. There were many great and not so great bowlers all enjoying this sporting event. The high single for the day went to Bruce Cummings with 256 flat - a great game.

The first couple was Erna Burg and Laura Carnegie with 150 over average from the Wednesday afternoon league and the second couple, Bill Matthews and Cliff Woolner with 143 over average from the Thursday league. Those in charge evidently worked very hard to organize this splendid event and must be commended. Another competition begins right away - more news on that later!

Ridgewood P.S. volleyball teams experience success

We have been very busy at Ridgewood since our last report. Here is an update.

Volleyball Teams
by Alison Watson
and Adam Longhurst

Ms. Woon coached the Junior Mixed team and they placed second in the northern division tournament. There they played very well, but they did not have luck on their side.

Mr. Caputo coached the Senior Girls team which placed second in the northern tournament. They then went on to the County competition. They didn't place, but they played well.

Mrs. Vernon coached the Senior Boys volleyball team along with assistance from Mr. Rainbow which was greatly appreciated. The team placed second in the northern tournament. In the last game they had to come back from a difficult 7-14 to win the game by two points with the final score being 16-14. They went on to the County tournament and played an exciting game which had everyone on the edge of their seats.

Mrs. Vernon says, "They showed us they could come together as a unit, encourage one another, and be successful too; all the ingredients of a great team effort."

Christmas Events by Ralph Coleman

Starting on December 7, from kindergarten to grade 8, we started carol singing all the favourites from Rudolf to We Three Kings. The seniors and staff decorated the tree in front of the office. Mr. Caputo's class did "The Toy Shop" with his class. It was a fantastic play. Mr. Rainbow's class did "A Christmas Carol". Scrooge was played by Morgan Dollock. Senior citizens were invited to be part of the audience.

Everyone is busy at school after the holidays. Many events such as speeches and basketball are underway. Watch for an update of these events soon.
